DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

1. Claims 1, 4 and 7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Blanchard (U.S. Patent No. 6, 408, 191).

Regarding to claims 1 and 4, Blanchard discloses a retrieval telephone number displaying method or system for a portable telephone set (figure 2, number 200) for retrieving telephone numbers and other data registered in the portable telephone set (figure 4, number 401) and displaying the retrieved data in a display of the portable telephone set (figure 2, number 210), wherein data retrieved in a predetermined sequence is displayed together with total number of cases of the retrieved data and the predetermined sequence (figure 4, numbers 401-404).

Regarding to claim 7, a portable telephone set (figure 2, number 200) comprising a CPU (figure 1, number 113), a memory (figure 1, number 112) for storing such data as telephone numbers and names, a display (figure 2, number 210) for storing the stored data, wherein the CPU retrieves the data stored in the memory in a predetermined sequence (figure 3, number 331), and displays the data retrieved in the predetermined sequence on the display of the portable telephone set together with the total number of cases of the retrieved data and the predetermined sequence (figure 4, numbers 401-404).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. Claims 2, 5 and 8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Blanchard (U.S. Patent No. 6, 408, 191) further in view of Cushman (U.S. Patent No. 6, 125, 287).

Regarding to claims 2, 5 and 8, Blanchard discloses the retrieved telephone number displaying method or system for a portable telephone set according to claim 1, 4 and 7 respectively, wherein the data retrieved in the predetermined sequence (figure 3, number 331) is displayed together with the total number of cases of the retrieved data (figure 4, numbers 401-404). However, Blanchard fails to disclose rearranging in a sequence of greater number of times of utilization and displaying in the sequence of greater number of times of utilization in the rearranged sequence. But, Cushman discloses rearranging in a sequence of greater number of times of utilization (column 3, lines 56-63 figures 5a and 6f) and displaying (figure 2g-2k) in the sequence of greater number of times of utilization (figure 2a) in the rearranged sequence (figures 5a and 6f and column 10, lines 63-column 11, lines 25). Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention was made to combine

Blanchard (U.S. Patent No. 6, 408, 191) with Cushman (U.S. Patent No. 6, 125, 287) in order to save time.

Therefore, the combination the above teachings of Blachard and Gushman, meets the claimed limitations and would resemble the invention of the applicant.

Allowable Subject Matter

3. Claims 3, 6, and 9 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Regarding to claims 3, 6, and 9, the applied references fail to disclose, or render obvious the claimed limitations that data retrieved by Japanese 50-kana sequence retrieval method and a kana affixing method, as specified in the claim

Response to Arguments

4. Applicant's arguments filed 04/09/04 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

Applicant argues that the predetermined sequence is not taught by the applied references.

However, the examiner disagrees with applicant. According to the specification of the applicant, predetermined sequence is retrieving telephone numbers and other data and displaying by sequence with the total number of cases (paragraph [0009]) of the U.S. Pub. No. 2001/0027124).

Art Unit: 2682

Blachard discloses retrieving messages from service provider and displaying it in a predetermined sequence with total number of cases (column 1, lines 62-column 2, lines 39, figure 4, numbers 401-404, please refer to 01 of 7, 02 of 7, 03 of 7, here, 01, 02, 03.. are sequences while the 07 indicates the total number of cases).

Applicant argues that Gushman et al. doesn't disclose the automatic rearrangement. However, the examiner disagrees with applicant. According to the specification of the applicant, rearrangement the data retrieved is rearranged in a sequence of greater number of times of utilization (paragraph [0010] of the U.S. Pub. No. 2001/0027124) no maintaining of automatic or manual. Data retrieving from service provider and displaying by sequence is taught by Blachard (column 1, lines 62-column 2, lines 39, figure 4, numbers 401-404), and Gushman discloses automatically rearranging (column 5, lines 25-32) and rearranging in a sequence of greater number of times of utilization (column 3, lines 56-column 4, lines 12).

5. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.

Art Unit: 2682
